KITCHIN TO OUTLAW
TARIFF DEMOCRATS

Those Voting for Bill to Be Passed by Saturday Will Be Read Out of Party.

SENATE HAS PARTY ROW

Democrats Fight Against Plan for Committee Reorganization.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., April 13.

The emergency farmers' tariff and anti-dumping bill will be taken up in the House to-morrow. Republican leaders hope to pass it not later than Saturday. Democratic members of the House met in caucus this afternoon and by a vote of 77 to 29 adopted a resolution "reaffirming the traditional policy of the Democratic party in favor of a tariff for revenue only" and pledging united opposition to the bill.

Of the twenty-nine Democrats voting against the binding resolution, nineteen declared at the caucus they reserved the right of freedom of action in their vote on the tariff bill. Most of them are expected to vote for the measure, although feeling a threat by Democratic Leader Kitchin of being read out of the party.

Reports condemning and defending the emergency tariff bill were filed with the House by Mr. Kitchin, representing the Democratic view, and Mr. Young (N. D.) expressing the Republican arguments.

"This bill, if passed," Mr. Kitchin asserted, "is worth to the sugar trust at least an additional $25,000,000 a year, to the meat and beef trust, the packers, $50,000,000 additional a year, to the woolen trust $100,000,000. The cost of living to the consumers will be increased on these articles alone controlled by these trusts $75,000,000."

The duties to be added to farm products in the emergency tariff bill will be heaped upon necessities, Mr. Kitchin said, and will add $2,000,000,000 to the present cost of living.

"All of this amount will go to swell the fortunes of the profiteers and speculators," he continued, "and the purpose of protecting or relieving the farmer is absolutely absent from the bill."

Speaking for the Republicans, Representative Young lamented the fact that farmer protective tariff legislation was not passed earlier. He added:

"The citizens of the United States bought nearly $900,000,000 worth of farm products from foreign countries last year. Save this good home market, with its good American dollars, for American farmers and do not compel them to sell their surplus to bankrupt foreigners."

Democratic Senators began a fight to-day against reorganization of the Senate committee, with the result that revenue revision hearings before the Finance Committee have been delayed and consideration of other measures blocked. Chairman Penrose stated that the Finance Committee cannot be organized until the committee selections have been approved. The Democrats are complaining that their proportion of representation on the ten major committees is unfairly reduced.

Senator Hitchcock (Neb.), acting minority leader, led the assault against the proposed increase from fifteen to sixteen members on the ten important committees. The Democrats' representation at ten to only six Democrats. Technical parliamentary objections were raised and insisted upon, keeping the Senate in a party wrangle for more than two hours. The row was not ended at adjournment and hence leaves many committees still unable to begin work.

Introduction of bills and resolutions in Congress slowed down materially to-day, so far as measures of outstanding importance are concerned.

In addition to the introduction by Senator Knox (Pa.) of the resolution to establish peace, Senator Borah (Idaho) offered again his proposals for an international conference on disarmament by the three naval powers of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, to be summoned by the President. Senator Norris (Neb.), chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, reintroduced the bill to regulate the packing industry, which failed in the last session.

Senator Calder (N. Y.) reintroduced his proposals for creating a house bureau to relieve the housing shortage. Other measures introduced ranged from further amendments to the national banking act and the prevention of transmission of racing information to new reclamation schemes, prevention of future trading in grain, reforestation projects, drainage of swamp lands and other local domestic affairs.

PORT OF NEW YORK BUSINESS
SHOWS BIG DECLINE IN YEAR

February Imports $156,717,517 Below the Same Month
Last Year, and Exports Drop $169,298,242—Value of Luxuries Brought Here Shows a Sharp Decline.

Imports and exports at the port of New York show a tremendous decline over last year, according to figures obtained at the Custom House yesterday. The imports for February—the last month for which the tables are complete—decreased $156,717,517 over the corresponding month last year. The drop in the value of the exports last February over February, 1920, was $169,298,242.

There is a sharp drop in the value of luxuries imported. Uncut diamonds to the value of $2,744,694 were brought into the port in February, 1920. Last February the value had shrunk to $454,078. There was a similar decline in the importations of cut diamonds from $6,225,021 to $1,354,362. The pearl importations in February decreased from $881,927 to $104,793 for the same month this year. There was a slight increase in the value of foreign automobiles imported, the figures for February, 1920, being $21,941 and those for February this year being $66,258.

Crude rubber imports showed an amazing decline from $23,576,687 a year ago in February to $5,756,438 for the same month this year.

Comparisons of export figures for February in both years show a decline in most commodities. Agricultural implements are one of the exceptions, the figures jumping from $165,000 in 1920 to $1,029,231 in February, 1921. The value of the ploughs exported also jumped from $716,594 to $1,451,871. Wheat flour exports dropped from $6,045,814 to $4,183,608. Other sharp declines occurred in passenger automobiles, which fell from $7,555,759 to $4,995,397 and unbleached cotton cloth, which dropped from $2,588,893 to $221,646.

The general trend of both imports and exports may be noted from the following leading examples, contrasted for the same month this year and a year ago:

and Lieut.-Col. Hugh A. Drum appeared on the list submitted last session by Secretary Baker and which failed to receive confirmation largely because of the absence of the name of Gen. Edwards. Six names on Secretary Weeks's list which did not appear on that of former Secretary Baker are Colonels Weigel, Helmick, Brown, Bowley, Johnston and Alexander.

The list recommended for promotion follows:

To be Major-Generals: Brigadier-Generals Clarence R. Edwards, James W. McAndrew, John L. Hines, Henry T. Allen, David C. Shanks, Adelbert Cronkrite, William M. Wright, George W. Road, Charles H. Murr, Charles T. Mencher, William G. Haan and George Bell, Jr.

To be Major-Generals to fill vacancies that will occur during the year: Brigadier-Generals Charles J. Bailey and Samuel D. Sturgis.

To be Brigadier-Generals: Col. Grover Hutton, Jesse McFar, Carter, Walter H. Gordon, George R. Duncan, William Weigel, Ernest Hines, Ulysses G. McAlexander, Mark L. Hersey, Eli A. Helmick, Robert L. Howze, William Lassiter, William R. Smith, Fred W. Sladen, Harry H. Bandholtz, Hansen E. Ely, Dwight E. Aultman, Johnson H. Good, Dennis A. Nolan, W. D. Connor, Fox Connor, Preston Brown, Malin Craig, Henry D. Todd, Jr., A. J. Bowley, William H. Johnston and Robert Alexander.

The Secretary of War announced that the President had approved the list of general officers as recommended.

BUNDY DROPPED IN ARMY PROMOTIONS

Secretary Weeks Explains That Choice Was Limited to Specific Number.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., April 13.

Secretary of War Weeks in announcing a list of important army promotions explained to-day why it was necessary to exclude the name of Gen. Omar Bundy from the list of General officers promoted to be Major-Generals. He acknowledged that Gen. Bundy and others deserved promotion, but said that the list is limited to a specific number and the men promoted are those who have to their credit the distinction of having commanded a division in France and of having a clean record during their entire military career and who in not promoted now would probably never be. Under these circumstances the younger men will have to wait. The Secretary expressed regret in being limited to twelve Major-Generals and twenty-six Brigadier-Generals.

The promotion of Brig.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, who commanded a New England division in France during the early days of the war, settles a military controversy which originated during the Wilson Administration. Gen. Edwards's friends believed a grave injustice had been done him in recalling him from France.

PRESS CLUB INQUIRY
UP IN COURT TO-DAY

Counsel for Organization Will Argue Against Investigation of Affairs.

Affairs of the New York Press Club will reach a climax to-day when Charles M. Beattie, counsel of the club, will urge in an argument before Justice Gavegan in the Supreme Court that the Justice vacate his order calling upon the club to show cause why it should not be investigated by the court.

The order was obtained by an element in the club bitterly opposed to practices which, it is charged, were countenanced by a majority of the present officers of the club. Counsel for the opponents of the present administration, H. Francis Dyruff of 34 Pine street, will oppose Mr. Beattie and endeavor to prove to Justice Gavegan that his order should not be vacated.

It is the contention of those who call themselves the progressives, who are headed by Jack Binns, vice-president of the club, that a housecleaning is needed to restore the organization to favor among newspaper men. Should Justice Gavegan refuse to vacate his own order Mr. Beattie will be compelled on April 19 before Justice McAvoy to show cause why there should not be a visitation and investigation by the Supreme Court.

The present administration of the club broke its silence yesterday by making public resolutions adopted at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees yesterday afternoon, in which defence is made of actions of the club officers. The board states it will not permit its integrity to be impugned "for unauthorized acts of two or more people who falsely claim to represent the club."
